

Ready for five crazy days ?

Volunteers of Planète Sciences are working for several months to prepare Eurobot. Since yesterday, volunteers are ready to welcome you ! 5... 4... 3... 2... 1 you have invested and opened the new COSEC ! Around 25 Eurobot teams arrived yesterday, latecomers will arrive by noon today.

Bad luck or benevolence ?

The entrance of the COSEC was refused yesterday to the poor Cubot Team... Do you know why? Simply because their robots look like barrels of beer! No way! But it is really robots taking part to the French cup. This little incident allows us to remind you that it is forbidden to stock and drink alcohol inside the COSEC, Athéna and Olympe... Security guards keep an eye on that, you are warned.

How to make a barrel of beer a robot? To learn that, come today in Olympe at 6:30 pm to see a team conference proposed by Cubot. We are waiting for you! In the category I recycle piracy's objects, Wall-Y will also give a conference about transforming your parrot and your treasure chest into robots.

Challenge of the day

Could you recognize our two humorist volunteers who are not afraid to get on the wrong side of all Eurobot robots? Don't hesitate to take pictures of them and send them to robotique@planete-sciences.org.

www.planete-sciences.org